VERSALIFT APPOINTS SALES MANAGER FOR IRELAND

VERSALIFT, part of the Time Manufacturing Group and manufacturers of vehicle mounted platforms, has appointed Niall Brannigan as Sales Manager for Ireland, based out of its offices located in Naas, Co. Kildare.

Brannigan joined the company in May from access hire company Height for Hire where he worked for 15 years in a sales and business development capacity. A keen marathon runner, Brannigan has spent the last eight years developing the self-drive division gaining extensive experience of van mounted and off-road vehicle mounted access platforms.

Brannigan said: “With vehicle mounted platforms playing a key role in working safely at height, I am delighted to be joining the market leader, selling these vehicles. I look forward to being a part of the organisation and growing the Irish market for Versalift.”

Andy Bray, General Manager-Director of Versalift UK said: “Our market in Ireland has grown substantially so it’s important that we find people like Niall who have the experience and can pick up the pace as the country recovers from the effects of Covid and governments’ investment in infrastructure increases.”

Versalift UK is set to launch a number of new products later this year into the UK and Ireland market including a completely redesigned pick-up mounted platform, new hybrid van-mounted platform and a number of new chassis mounted platforms.
